As One Goes Around

It happened the other evening in the Alley of The St. Francis Hotel. A woman approached the cigar stand and spoke to the girl behind the counter. The latter replied and once more the woman on the lobby side said something. I was too far away to be able to hear the conversation, but I was interested because of the earnest effort each was trying to make to straighten out some point in the conversation and, seemingly, neither was able to do so. After a considerable exchange of words had taken place the apparent customer opened the long bag she carried under her arm and, after fumbling inside, brought forth a key. It seemed to be one of the regular room keys the St. Francis provides guests. The girl behind the cigar case looked at it, smiled and handed the other woman two packages of cigarettes, at the same time returning the key. The customer passed over a bill. Change was made and handed the one who had bought the cigarettes and the transaction was, to all appearances, ended. After the woman had gotten her cigarettes into the bag she carried under her arm, I was curious and went over to talk to the cigar stand girl, whom I have known a long time, and asked what the extended conversation she had engaged in had to do with the selling of two packages of cigarettes. She rolled her eyes to a sign on the wall reading: "Cigarettes sold only to Hotel Patrons." Still I did not understand. She smiled and said: "You saw her identifying herself. The lady wanted cigarettes. I asked her if she was a patron of the hotel. She said she was. I asked her to show me her room key. You saw her do it. That ended it. The key showed she was a patron of the hotel. She got her cigarettes by identifying herself. We have to follow the practice, if we did not we would be out of cigarettes in no time."

It was a simple way and an effective one.

The other night I was in one of the news rooms of a big city paper and got to talking to some old newspapermen friends of mine. The question of what to do with the great number of people who will come to take part in the Big Three Peace Conference, scheduled for San Francisco in April came up. Today, you know, in San Francisco, unless you make a reservation at a hotel, days in advance, you will not be able to get a place to sleep, so, if an additional 3,000 people, many of whom will want several rooms, as a suite, come to add to the congestion, you can realize what an addition to an already over-crowded city hotel life it is going to create. I had earlier heard a number of plans San Francisco has in mind for taking care of the notables and the hundreds the coming of the Peace Conference will attract — Not less than 400 outside newspapermen, women and photographers will be in town at that time to take the conference story — It, probably, will be the biggest news event of the year. One newspaperman who, usually, is possessed of as much "in advance" information as any on the coast, told me he felt, although nothing had been given out, the Peace Conference would probably be located at Stanford University and then he went on to say the reason for his belief was that Herbert Hoover would take a leading conferring part in the Peace Conference, although the Ex-President would, likely, work behind the scenes, and it was the theory of my informant the decidedly sensible suggestion of holding the conference at Stanford, originated in the very practical mind of the former Republican leader, who is supreme at Stanford. The suggestion of the newspaperman has an added significance when the fact is taken into consideration the campus can easily be policed by troops and the airfields, on which many of the leaders will come in planes, are within a short distance from the University.

★ BUY WAR BONDS ★

I got into it 24 years ago, just as the deal blew up but, since then, I have because of friendship for Standish and Hickey, old acquaintances of mine who own great tracts of timber lands hereabouts, been in the negotiations to preserve the lovely Redwoods near Orr's Springs ever since. A number of times it appeared as if the deal would go through, but it always toppled back, just when we thought it would end in a successful consummation. You have to know the story, however, to understand the strange point that appears to be developing, so I will give it to you. Gavin McNab, 25 years ago, was approached to buy the Grove and he was told by the owners what the acreage was and the amount it could be bought for. Mr. McNab thought it over and then said he would take it. In the meantime, I never have been able to find out who was responsible for it, but, when the time came for Mr. McNab to get title for what he understood he was to get in acreage and at the price he had been informed he would be called upon to pay, the figures had been upped. Gavin McNab, feeling he had been jobbed, refused to complete the deal and the sale was off. Now, after 25 years a queer situation has, apparently, arisen. In San Francisco the other day a representative of the McNab family stated, Mrs. McNab, the widow of Gavin McNab, was ready to contribute $25,000 toward purchase of Montgomery Redwoods. This means, if there is not another slip-up, the Save the Redwoods League and the State Park Commission may pick up $25,000 unexpectedly — just about one-half the amount it will take to acquire the Grove and, if the usual practice of the State Park Commission is followed, Montgomery Redwoods will, likely, be made the Gavin McNab Memorial Park. That policy being followed where donors of large sums as purchase contributions are permitted to name Parks for designated people. So, after a quarter of a century Montgomery Redwoods, which Gavin McNab planned to purchase as a Memorial Park and which he failed in acquiring, will, after he has for years been in his grave, have that honor conferred upon him by the gracious and generous action of his widow.

NEVADA CASE IS REVERSED IN A DIVORCE

Judge W. D. L. Held's Decision Set Aside Last Week

NEW TRIAL GRANTED

Frank Bello Legally Separated From His Wife, Court Held

A divorce suit, which attracted a lot of attention here lately was that of Rose Agnes Bello against her husband Frank Joseph Bello last year. The case was decided by former Judge Held in favor of Mrs. Bello. Following Held's decision Judge H. L Preston filed a motion for a new trial. In the meantime Held went out of office and the case was last week heard on the motion for a new trial by Judge Donald Geary, of Sonoma county, and the latter ordered the decision of Held set aside and a new trial granted. The story of the case runs:

On July 31, 1944, Rose Agnes Bello brought suit against Frank Joseph Bello for separate maintenance, claiming she was the wife of the defendant, Frank Joseph Bello, and asked the court require him to pay the sum of $100 a month for support and maintenance, pending the suit and also permanently; also that defendant pay the sum of $500 for attorney's fees and the sum of $80 costs, and the community property be awarded her.

Lives At Dos Rios.

Defendant Frank Joseph Bello and his present wife are residing on a ranch at Dos Rios. Mr. Bello answered the complaint of his former wife and alleged that, on the 9th day of January, 1943, the District Court of the First Judicial District of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Ormsby, granted him a divorce from the plaintiff, Rose Agnes Bello, and further made an order he pay to the plaintiff, Rose Agnes Bello, the sum of $60 per month, beginning January 15,

NEW CHIEF TO GO ON FEB. 22

Joe Elledge Selected As Head Of The Department

At the meeting of the town trustees Wednesday Patrolman Joseph Elledge was elected chief of police and will assume his duties tomorrow.

Accepted Reluctantly.

Officer Elledge was loath to take over the position and did so only after it was arranged Chief Elledge would serve until after war was over when the trustees and Officer Elledge agreed a returning Veteran, who had fought for his country, should be selected.

Satisfactory All Around.

Mr. Elledge is a seasoned officer and has seen many years service as a peace official in the county. It is generally agreed he will make an excellent official and about the city there is satisfaction a Ukiah man has been placed at the head of city police affairs and everyone accepts the selection as one of the wisest moves the trustees have made.

Local Youth Has Advanced Steadily

Word was recently received by Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Thornton, of 416 South Main street, their son, Ernest E. Thornton, has been promoted from First Class to Chief. He is a Radio-Radar Technician in the Navy and at present is teaching radio at a navy radio school at Gulfport, Miss. After "Ernie" graduated from Ukiah High School he worked for the State Theater circuit. Starting as doorman, he was promoted through various positions to manager. In that capacity he managed theatre at Arcata, Willits, Fortuna and Healdsburg, until he entered the service. Since he enlisted in the Navy in August, 1942, he has applied his efforts in the right direction and thus attained the reward of being advanced steadily from one position to the next right up the line. He now holds the top position for non-commissioned officers in the Navy.

BRIDGE LEASE TO STATE HELD ILLEGAL IN OPINION TO BOARD OF SAN FRANCISCO SUPERVISORS

Attorney John L. McNab Points Out Legal Barriers To Transfer Of Authority By Directors To California

SALE TO STATE IS HELD BY LAW IMPOSSIBLE

Requested By San Francisco Board, Supervisors, After Reading Opinion, Decided To Abandon Attempt

SAN FRANCISCO STOPPED MOVE

Following receipt of the opinion of Attorney John L. McNab, of the Golden Gate Bridge District, the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco, by a vote of six to two, decided to take no further action in the plan to have the Golden Gate Bridge taken over, and tabled the resolution which had provided for an inquiry into the possibility of the State, either buying or leasing, the Golden Gate Bridge.

State acquisition or leasing of the Golden Gate Bridge was held illegal in a requested opinion given to the San Francisco Board of Supervisors this week by John L. McNab, attorney for the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District. Mr. McNab contended that neither the bridge district nor State had legal right to initiate such action.

Mr. McNab pointed out that the main obstacle is the bonded indebtedness of the bridge, which now totals $34,400,000 out of the original $35,000,000 voted by Mendocino and the other five counties comprising the bridge district. The bonds are non-callable and constitute a lien on excess bridge revenues and all taxable property of the district. Mr. McNab declared it would be "in direct conflict with the constitution for the State legislature to assume the burden of liquidating this obligation." He also explained the constitution forbids the state to take over any indebtedness in excess of $300,000.

Gas Tax Prohibited.

Mr. McNab further stated the law prohibits the use of gasoline taxes for purchase of the bridge, as has been suggested in some quarters.

What Law Says.

The attorney commented in the following language on the right of the California Toll Bridge Authority, operating the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge and the former privately owned Carquinez and Antioch bridges, to lease or acquire the Golden Gate Bridge: The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District is without authority, under the statute, to lease the Golden Gate Bridge.

It Lacks Authority.

"Again, the Toll Bridge Authority has no power to enter into a contract to lease bridges, but has authority only to acquire them by purchase or condemnation. And this is limited strictly to private bridges. There is no power given to the Toll Bridge Authority to acquire a public bridge.

Who Would Trade?

"Again, the only method of payment provided by the statute is for the Toll Bridge Authority to issue revenue bonds. It has not the power to purchase by the payment of money. To suggest that the bondholders of the bridge district, now secured by the revenues plus a lien on all the taxable property, real and personal, of the district, would exchange these for a revenue bond, secured only by the income of the district, is to accuse the bondholders of stupidity."

Cannot Be Forced.

Mr. McNab said there is no provision by law by which a bondholder can be compelled to surrender his bond before maturity. Final date for Golden Gate Bridge bonds is 1971.

Opinion Was Requested.

The attorney's opinion had been asked by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors in response to a motion made recently by Supervisor Chester R. MacPhee to endorse legislation, asking the State to acquire the Golden Gate Bridge. Such legislation is now pending in the legislature.

Directors Not Involved.

Mr. McNab explained to the San Francisco supervisors his views were submitted at their request and were not an expression of opinion by the Golden Gate Bridge board of directors.

LETTER TO SUPERVISORS

The following self-explanatory letter was sent to the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco by John L. McNab, Attorney for the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

February 9, 1945.

Board of Supervisors,
San Francisco, Calif.
Gentlemen:

In response to your very courteous request that I render an opinion of the right of the State to acquire the Golden Gate Bridge in view of the outstanding bond issue of an original $35,000,000, may I say this:

Several opinions in past years have been rendered on this question by the Attorney General, and others, but none of them has been at all definite or conclusive.

The Attorney General, about the time the Bridge was to be constructed, expressed the opinion that the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District could be dissolved by the California Legislature, but expressed the view that if a bonded indebtedness were to be imposed on the District grave doubt existed as to the right of the State to intervene.

More recently, the Legislative Counsel has rendered an opinion likewise expressing doubt as to the right of the State to acquire the property subject to bonded indebtedness.

He Stands Firm.

On this question I entertain no doubt whatever.

Waiving all other questions involved and restricting this letter to the right of the State to take over the Bridge in view of the outstanding bond issue, the following reasons seem to me to present objections impossible to answer. I will state them briefly.

First: Section 31 of Article 4 of the Constitution of California declares that the legislature shall have no power to lend the credit of the State or of any political subdivision of the State, whether municipal or otherwise, in any manner whatever for the payment of the liabilities of any municipal or other corporation.

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District has been held by the courts to be a public corporation or, as it is termed legally, a quasi-municipal corporation. For the State legislature to assume the burden of paying the bonded indebtedness of the Golden Gate Bridge would, in my opinion, be in direct conflict with the provisions of the constitution which are of a most forbidding nature.

Another Barrier.

Second: Section I of Article 16 forbids the assumption of any indebtedness by the State of California in excess of the sum of $300,000.

It is true that where the State acquires property subject to a bond issue payable only out of the revenues of the property acquired this provision of the constitution is not violated. This occurred where a district had issued revenue bonds payable only out of the earnings of the particular district.

The bonds issued by the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District are not revenue bonds. They

CREW RESCUED HORSE FROM A VALLEY WELL

Animal Had Fallen In Several Hours Before Found

IT WAS NOT INJURED

Was Exhausted Upon Being Taken From Below Ground

Special Correspondence of The Press

ANDERSON VALLEY, Feb. 19.—The Freshman class of the local high school entertained the other classes at a Valentine party Saturday evening preceeding that date. The Valentine motif was used in decorations with a large red heart flanked by ferns used as the center of the decorative scheme in the auditorium, while red hearts and daffodils were used effectively on supper tables.

Played Basketball.

The evening was started with a fast-moving basketball game between the boys and girls, and while the boys won, it was not by a very large margin. Dancing and games followed and the highlight of the evening was the valentine box which was loaded with valentines that ran from comics to sweetly sentimental notes. During the evening the Sophomore class raffled off an attractive heart-shaped box of candy and the holder of the lucky ticket was Betty Lou Pardini. Over 50 students shared in the evening's fun and enjoyed the dainty refreshments and they voted the freshman class and their advisor, Mrs. Velma Farrer, grand hosts.

Had Serious Time .

W. F. Clow returned to his home here Tuesday evening after passing more than a week in San Francisco where he went to be with his brother, Carl Clow, of San Rafael, who underwent a serious operation Friday of last week. Following the operation the patient seemed to be holding his own, until Sunday when a heart condition developed that necessitated his being moved into an oxygen tent and for a time little hope was held for his recovery, but by Tuesday his condition had improved and he was moved from the tent for a few minutes at a time to accustom him to the change.

Surgeon A Schoolmate.

The operation was performed by Dr. Carl Hoag, who is a classmate of the Clows, as the children of the two families attended Con Creek school here together. The Henry Clow family lived at that time at the Clow Mill, on what was later known as the Burkhardt place, and the Hoag family then owned the ranch I. C. Burke sold last year to R. M. Zane. Friends of the Clow family here will be glad to learn Mr. Clow has shown some improvement and they are hoping for his complete recovery.

Guests At Farrer Home.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Brennan and two small sons, of Richmond, were weekend guests at the J. T. Farrer home.

Miss Audrey English, of Mountain View, is a guest at the Max Dightman home.

C. M. Jackson, accompanied by a friend, is passing the week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tolman.

Were At Home.

Misses Jeannette and Joyce Knivila were home for the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Knivila. Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Knivila were hosts at a dinner honoring the birthdays of Mrs. E. S. Lemon, Miss Joyce Knivila and Mrs. J. T. Farrer, which all fell within a week. Covers were laid for Mrs. E. S. Lemon, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Farrer, George Farrer and Misses Jeannette, Joyce and Edwina Knivila, and the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Tindall were business visitors in Ukiah Tuesday last.

Horse Fell In Well.

It took hours of hard work by a dozen men to rescue a horse that fell into an abandoned well on the Samela ranch near Navarro Saturday. The well had been covered with boards and, although originally over 40 feet deep, it had been partly filled and the horse went down 12 feet and, due to the top having caved in around the opening, it was wide enough to allow the animal to lie on his side. When found he had struggled so frantically to free himself he was very tired. He was thought to have been in the well several hours before be-

SPOKE FOR BILL

Senator George M. Biggar was guest speaker at a public meeting held at Sequoia Hall Thursday night. The subject was "Health Insurance" and the Senator spoke on Governor Earl Warren's bill which is now before the legislature.

FORT BRAGG, Feb. 19.—Local fishermen have added a new sideline which promises much for this section. Fort Bragg-Noyo is rapidly becoming the center of a large fishing industry and the training of fishermen in management and care of boats and other items connected with deep sea fishing is something which has long been very badly needed. Coast fishermen have been discussing the matter some time and they have decided to train boys and young men between the ages of 15 and 21 in ocean work. In some ways this will correspond to the training of Boy Scouts and will be good for both the boys and the community.

To Raise Peas.

Fred Hemenway, of Winters, has purchased the large and fine ranch of Louis Filosi, of Ten Mile, at Westport. This ranch was developed to its present size by the late Alexander Jefferson, who used it to run cattle in connection with his wholesale meat business. Later it was utilized for dairying and general farming. The deal included the stock on the ranch and the purchase price is understood to be in the neighborhood of $60,000. It is also reported the new owner will plant 150 acres to peas this season, as the place is well adapted to this crop.

Log Victim Buried.

Funeral services for the late John Rolle were held at the Funeral Home, Rev. J. L. Kent officiating. John B. Rolle, Jr., 27, of Fort Bragg, met with a fatal accident at the big log deck of the Union Lumber Company's mill pond. Mr. Rolle was working the logs and one rolled upon the unfortunate youth and struck him on the head, crushing the skull to such an extent Mr. Rolle did not regain consciousness. He was taken immediately to the hospital where he passed away. Deceased was a native of this city and a graduate of our schools. When the war broke out he tried to enlist, but was rejected on account of a heart ailment.

AN EARLY DAY WOMAN IS ILL

First White Child Of Little River Is In Hospital

Mrs. Carrie Perry was taken to San Francisco Saturday morning by A. L. Ormsbee to enter University of California Hospital for observation and a possible operation. She was accompanied by her son, Willis Perry, and his wife, of Briceland.

Had To Wait.

On account of crowded conditions, Mrs. Perry was not able to enter the Hospital immediately. They secured temporary accomodations at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel until a place may be made for Mrs. Perry at the Hospital. Mrs. Perry is the first white child born at Little River and is well advanced in years. She has witnessed the settlement and development of Mendocino county and has many friends in this part of the state who will hope for her early recovery.

POWER LINES TO GO NORTH BELIEF SEEMS

Pacific Gas & Electric Company Buys Small Plant

BETTER SERVICE SURE

Laytonville Power Co. Is Now Limited In Capacity

Special Correspondence of The Press

WILLITS, Feb. 19.—The P. G. & E. has purchased the Long Valley Light and Power Company, but the deal will not be consummated until the parties receive permission to sell from the State Railroad Commission, but this is a mere formality. There is no opposition from the residents of that section. They know they will get better service after the deal is complete.

The Present Plant.

The Laytonville plant is operated with a diesel engine and is good up to its capacity, which is now not quite enough. This system already covers a large portion of Long Valley and the connecting link with the present terminus at Longvale is about six miles. This connection will follow the Redwood highway and will service several auto camps and resorts which also have diesel equipment.

What Theory Is.

It is believed that, eventually, the P. G. & E. will extend its system along Redwood Highway as far as Eureka and then service a large portion of southern Humboldt county.

Chance For Power.

There are several prospective dam sites in the Round Valley area where there is an abundant stream flow even during the dry summer months and lakes many miles long can be secured. Only isolation has prevented these dams from being built.

Made Nice Showing.

The final report of the Infantile Paralysis drive was made last week and it is found a total of $1,278.29 was collected in this area. This is a 50 percent increase over that of last year.

Buried Here Friday.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Annie Phillips was held at the Mortuary Friday afternoon, Rev. J. H. Howe officiating. Mrs. Phelps died at the hospital following a short illness.

Forced Off Highway.

Melvin Butcher, who drives a truck for the Shell Oil Company, met with another accident on the highway near Hillvilla. He was crowded off the pavement by a passing motorist who was taking up most of the road and, while trying to turn out to avoid a collision, went off the edge of the road and the truck turned bottom up. Mr. Butcher managed to crawl out of the cab window. Several gallons of fuel oil was lost, but gas tanks were securely closed and no gasoline escaped. After several hours of hard work the truck was pulled back on the highway and there was but slight damage.

Now In Maryland.

George Teale, a former resident, is now at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Maryland, where he is an instructor. He is a brother of Mrs. Helen Cureton of Willits and was born and raised here.

Fire In Frozen Food Plant.

What might have been a serious fire broke out at Val's Frozen Food Plant Thursday afternoon. The fire started in a smoke cabinet in the rear of the market, which is used for curing hams and bacon. The flames shot up to the ceiling and burned through the plaster and lath and filled the upper rooms with smoke, which made it very difficult to locate the blaze. The firemen used a fog stream and by doing so the damage to the building was reduced to a minimum.

Workers Needed.

The Red Cross Sewing Room at the Willits Grammar School will be open every Thursday afternoon. More women volunteers are badly needed, for there is a lot of work on hand.

Garage Is Sold.

The Munson Garage on South Main street has been sold to John J. Schneider, of Oakland. Mr. Schneider has not announced the date of the re-opening of the garage, which has been closed since the start of war. Since that date Mr. Munson has devoted all his time to his ranch near town.

GIVING THE PEOPLE THE FACTS

THERE IS A CONSIDERABLE AMOUNT of space here devoted to The Golden Gate Bridge, including the very sound legal opinion of Hon, John L. McNab, attorney for the Golden Gate Bridge and, admittedly one of the peers of his profession. Mr. McNab's opinion holds control cannot be taken from the Directors of the Span, either by lease or sale of the Golden Gate Bridge to the State. That opinion dovetails in with decisions of famous Bond Company attorneys who went carefully into the status of protection for the $35,000,000 in Bridge bonds before their clients invested.

Every Bridge director long has been satisfied Bridge control could not be upset and had made up his mind the position for him to assume was to protect the Bridge, in the interests of the Bondholders and to fight against its continued handicapping. The first duty the Directors owe is to the investors, so there will not be any default in payment of interest or retirement of bonds and a subsequent falling back on the taxpayers for a tax levy throughout the counties to make up any deficit that may, because of such failures, occur.

The Bridge directors hold the State Highway Commission, through its engineering department, has done great damage to the Bridge District, because of the un-engineering-like construction of the approach to and of the Waldo tunnel. Facts show the Directors had no say in determining the grade to the tunnel or the construction of the tunnel itself. Engineer John H. Skeggs was the Resident Engineer of the Commission which created the imperfectly built tunnel and excessive grade to the mouth of the tunnel and, as he was the agent of the Commissioners, consequently, as their agent, the Commissioners are liable for his act, the Bridge Directors maintain, and the Directors are, very justly, insisting, the serious mistake Engineer Skeggs made be corrected by the Highway Commission.

The Directors claim, and offer proof in support of their contention, the only reasonable way to correct the Highway Engineers' mistake is to build the Freeway and, when it is built, to make it of such character as to meet all requirements of the users of the Bridge. The position of the Highway Commissioners, on the other hand, is they cannot use State funds to run a Highway parallel to another Highway. This contention, however, is disproven by numerous instances in which just such action has been taken by the Commission.

Here, at home, for instance, is the case of the Highway over Cloverdale Hills. The earlier mistake of the Commission in routing the highway up and down the grades was rectified by building the Cloverdale-Hopland route on the other side of the river. Again, take, for illustration, in this section the highway between Hopland and Ukiah. There was the route along the uplands from a point this side of Hopland. The Engineers paralleled this by buying expensive right-of-way through the best ranches in the valley to straighten out the highway from Hopland to Ukiah. Highway altering of this character prevails right down the line, from Eureka to San Diego. At Sausalito, as an example, exactly what the Highway Commissioners contend today they cannot do, they did a few years back.

There would be no trouble about the upkeep of the Waldo grade, all of which lies in Marin county, as, it is understood, the Board of Supervisors, in order to help out the whole northern section of California, stand ready to accept the turning back by the Highway Commission of the Waldo approach to Marin county, when the Freeway is built.

It would seem as if the Highway Commission's engineers are endeavoring to jockey the question so as to get it by the present legislative session. If this is done, relief for the Bridge will have to go over for two years. The Bridge directors and the Redwood Empire Association are insisting a decision be given now and, with that idea in line are asking for another meeting with the Highway Commission and the Redwood Empire Association next month at Sacramento. The legislature will then be in session and it will be possible, if the Highway Commissioners do not remain adamant, to get action at the present session.

The law giving the Highway Commission the right to act is clear on the matter. The need is increasingly great. All of northern California is demanding the Highway Commission right the botched job its Engineers created at the Waldo grade and tunnel. Trucking Associations and autoists are a unit in urging abolishment of the excessive long haul up the grade.

The Highway Commission Engineers have assumed a stubborn stand.

The Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge will not recede from their position.

The next meeting of the State Highway Commission should tell the tale. The Commissioners have had a full month in which to make up their minds.

THE HOUR IS HERE

ALL OVER AMERICA men and women of differing creeds are joining this week in a nation-wide observance of Brotherhood Week which continues through February 25.

Sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the week this year takes for its theme: "In peace as in war—Teamwork."

At no time could the spirit of Brotherhood Week be more appropriate than now when our fighting forces are struggling to bring liberty, justice and unity to the whole human family and when statesmen at home are planning a peace pattern with that as its main objective.

President Roosevelt himself struck the keynote of the week when, in his proclamation, he said:

"On battlefields throughout the world, Americans of many cultural backgrounds stand together in one fighting force that presents an unbroken front against the enemies of freedom. We move forward to victory — one people dedicated to one flag in the service of justice and peace for all. It is, therefore, a solemn duty for us who live and work in the United States to keep our country free of prejudice and bigotry so that when our fighting men return they may find us living by the freedom for which they are ready to give the full measure of devotion."

That, in itself, should challenge all good Americans to point their lives and relationships toward brotherhood at home — toward lives free of prejudice against their neighbors.

Then, with Washington's birthday falling in the midst of Brotherhood Week, we may well consider the words of the Nation's Father, expressed in a letter of thanks to the Jewish Congregation at Newport, in which he wrote:

"All possess alike liberty of conscience and immunities of citizenship. It is now no more that toleration is spoken of as if it were by the indulgence of one class of people that another enjoyed the exercise of their inherent natural rights, for, happily, the Government of United States, which gives to bigotry no sanction, to persecution no assistance, requires only that they who live under its protection should demean themselves as good citizens in giving it on all occasions their effectual support."

BRIDGE LEASE TO STATE HELD ILLEGAL IN OPINION TO BOARD OF SAN FRANCISCO SUPERVISORS

are non-callable, and are not only secured by any excess revenues over and above the costs of operation and administration, but they are secured by lien upon the entire taxable property of the District, running into hundreds of millions of dollars. There is only one method by which this clause of the constitution could be avoided and that would be by a vote of the people of the entire State of California.

Gas Tax Barred.

Third: It has been suggested the funds collected from the gas tax might be utilized toward the purchase of the Bridge. However, it is perfectly clear from the reading of Section 1 of Article 26 of the State Constitution the gas tax can only be used for the "construction, improvement, repair and maintenance" of highways, and it cannot be used for the purchase of public bridges.

Cannot Be Leased.

Fourth: It has been asked whether or not the Toll Bridge Authority might either lease or acquire the Golden Gate Bridge.

The answer to this is simple. The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District is without authority, under the statute, to lease the Golden Gate Bridge. The only language in the Bridge Act giving any authority to lease relates simply to conveniences such as restaurants, parking stations and the like, as one of the adjuncts of the Bridge. The directors are without authority to lease the structure itself.

Again, the Toll Bridge Authority has no power to enter into a contract to lease bridges, but has authority only to acquire them by purchase or condemnation. And this is limited strictly to private bridges. There is no power given to the Toll Bridge Authority to acquire a public bridge.

Again, the only method of payment provided by the statute is for the Toll Bridge Authority to issue revenue bonds. It has not the power to purchase by the payment of money.

Idea Is Absurd.

To suggest that the bondholders of the Bridge District, now secured by the revenues plus a lien on all the taxable property, real and personal, of the District, would exchange these for a revenue bond secured only by the income of the District, is to accuse the bondholders of stupidity.

Must Protect Bondholders.

Throughout all of this discussion little reference has been made to the rights of the bondholders themselves. It must be remembered that the bondholders, scattered through banks, trust companies, and individuals all over the United States purchased these non-callable bonds bearing an attractive rate of interest. There is no provision of law by which the bondholder can be compelled to surrender his bond before maturity. Nor is there any provision of law by which he can be compelled to accept a different security than those named in the bonds. No legal machinery exists under California law to compel a bondholder to abandon his rights which have been fixed by solemn contract. Nor can the owners of the real and personal property of the District be compelled to accept a pledge in lieu of the one that is fixed by the law creating the District by their own voluntary act registered in a general election.

His Own Act.

There are many other questions of a vital nature involved in any attempt to acquire the Golden Gate Bridge, but I have restricted this brief opinion to the question as it affects the outstanding bond issue. There are a number of legal authorities on the question, but I have not thought it advisable to exhaust your patience by discussing them.

I should like to have it understood that this is merely a frag-

Sidelights of Sadness

Being incidents connected with California's State Prison as observed by A. R. O'Brien, editor of The Republican Press, while chairman of the State Board of Prisons of California

THE NECESSITY FOR A NEW METHOD

A while back a young sailor, who had served in the South Pacific, was allowed a furlough and got to San Francisco. The first thing he did when he got home was to take on a heavy load of whiskey . He mixed up with a number of prostitutes and he went without food or sleep several days and nights. One evening he came down Market street. He was not, as we say in prison, "stir crazy," nor was he "punch drunk," as is the parlance of the ring. That sailor killed a woman, but, under the human verdict that should have been rendered, he was not responsible. Of course there will be numerous people who will insist this young fellow, who had just come back from a frightful experience fighting the Japs, should be punished and the pound of flesh exacted. As near as I now recall he was a freight handler before he went to war. He led a normal life and he had not done anything radically wrong prior to enlistment. After he got over on the Islands war did something to him. He was given every conceivable weapon stepped-up science could devise to kill enemy human beings and he was instructed to go the limit in the killings. If some Buddy of his did an exceptionally good job along that line, he saw him decorated. It was drilled into him the thing to do was to kill. Now, I am not holding any brief there is any other way to win the war than by doing just that, but I am contending that, after his country has taught him to slaughter people, when he came home and, out of his mind, killed a woman he had never seen before, he merited a peculiar, sympathetic study of his case. We are going to have a lot of just such killings when the soldiers come back. Of course, we cannot throw down the bars to them, but we must appreciate this war has created a lot of Dr. Jekylls and Mr. Hydes—men who, since going behind guns—have had a dual nature created in them. We are going to have a great many cases of that class.

Then men, just returned, will have committed murder and other serious crimes, all right! But we cannot forget we sent them out to revel in blood, if they could gain advantage thereby for our country. They got used to killing and wildness and unrestraint and there will come a throw-back when they get home and try to keep their feet on the ground. What caused me to write this story today was a telegram I saw in an Eastern newspaper. A man and his wife attended a theatre and, when the husband went to get the family car in a parking lot, a bandit with a gun, stole it from him. The article I refer to, went on to say the incident took a new twist next day when the car thief was arrested. The gunman was a former paratrooper who had fought through the New Guinea campaign. He came home with a medical discharge, the Silver Star and the Purple Heart, a shrapnel gash in his leg and a bayonet wound in his arm. He had killed 50 Japs. His country had taught him to be a killer. Now he had a war job, a quiet room with a soft bed and enough money for a young man of his to live on. He should have been happy. But he wasn't. He started drinking. When his senses returning he was in jail charged with kidnapping, robbery, larceny and carrying a concealed weapon.

Now, I am going back again, to the story in the paper and I am going to quote it:

"What will happen to this and a lot of other boys like him—decent lads whose shattered nervous systems just cannot take the quick transition from war's supercharged excitement of killing and dodging death—when they return to the daily routine of civilian life? The boy in this story is a source of trouble for himself and others. He's not a criminal but a jail might make one of him. Should he be sent to a veterans' hospital by court order? Can the hospital be compelled to admit him on the clinical history of one night of crime? Will the black mark of a police record stand beside his name for the rest of his life? These are important and difficult questions. They will probably crop up, with variations, throughout the country for a long time to come."

We are going to need a lot of new methods of handling crime and we are going to require a lot of different confinement places for men who were hurt in battle, but did not find it out until too late.

TYPHOON HIT THE HULL AND MANY DROWN

Martin Haydon, Covelo Naval Man, Lost At Sea

HAD HEROIC RECORD

Sailor Engaged In A Mission When The Storm Struck

Special Correspondence of The Press

COVELO, Feb. 19. This week the sad news Martin Haydon is missing at sea was officially released to the press. He was a member of the crew of the U.S.S. Hull, which, with a large group of naval vessels, including the Spence and the Monaghan, was engaged in a war mission when they were struck by a typhoon December 18, 1944.

Told Of Disaster.

In a personal letter to Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haydon, the commanding officer of the Hull, Lt. Commander J. B. Marks, gives a full account of the loss of the ship. Lt. Marks says: "Martin's division officer, Ensign (jg) Sharp, spoke highly of him before the occurrence of the disaster. During the height of the storm the engineering division did a grand job and deserved far more credit than is possible to give. Your son, as a member of the division, is known to have turned in a magnificent job. You, as well as his country, have excellent reason to feel proud of the job he did that day. So, while the occasion of this letter is a sad one, nevertheless, let it also be a source of deep satisfaction and strength for you in the years to come to know your boy was doing his job manfully to the end."

Held Out Hope.

Lieut. Commander Marks attributes his own survival to "a miracle." In these days of warinterrupted communications when many have returned from among the "missing" through what seem miraculous ways, let us not give up hope but feel with Martin's parents, some day, some way, he will come home.

GREYHOUND CO. GREAT FACTOR

Has Continuously Assisted Enlistments In The Paper

With the publication today of their seventh large advertisement promoting enlistment in various branches of the armed forces, Pacific Greyhound Lines undoubtedly qualifies as a potent force in volunteer recruiting for Uncle Sam. Newspapers were chosen to carry these messages because of their broad coverage, and each of the advertisements appearing in over 500 western newspapers reached millions of people in seven states. In addition, many Greyhound buses have been painted with recruiting messages, which have been carried in this way into the vast territory served by Pacific Greyhound.

How and why this unusual type of advertising was adopted was explained by W. W. Acherman, Vice-President of Pacific Greyhound Lines. "After Pearl Harbor," said Mr. Acherman, "Greyhound's war job became a vital one to the nation. All of our buses were put to work transporting military personnel, war workers and other essential passengers. We were handicapped by shortages of buses, parts and material and personnel. However, Greyhound advertising still had important work to do in keeping people informed on travel conditions. We continued to use newspapers to carry these messages to aid the government. Greyhound is happy to do its share in this way in helping the recruiting program of the armed forces and to help bring Victory closer." The seventh of the Greyhound recruiting advertisements to appear in The Republican Press is published in this issue.

DOOLEY A HERO

Staff Sergt. Marvin V. Dooley, of Hopland, has recently been presented an Oak Leaf Cluster for his Air Medal for meritorious achievement in combat at a Southwest Pacific forward base. He is a top gunner with the famed "Bomber Barons" of the 13th AAF. This crack Liberator outfit recently flew its six hundredth combat mission. Sergeant Dooley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Dooley. Prior to entering service in March, 1943, he was a rancher. He received armament training at Lowry Field, Colorado, and attended gunnery school at Fort Myers, Florida. He departed for overseas duty in March, 1944.

HOPLAND, Feb. 19.—Mrs. R. L. Buckman entertained at a birthday dinner in honor of her husband Sunday and relatives from near and far sat down at a beautifully appointed table, the main dish consisting of roast turkey. Mr. Buckman received many fine gifts. These invited were Mr. and Mrs. Clair Buckman and daughter, Marjorie, from Arcata, Mrs. F. E. Gibson and daughter, Barbara, from Burlingame, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Buckman and family, including their son, Bob, who is home on leave from the Navy. Bob is Seaman 1 c. Ellis Arnold, J. W. Hiatt, George Pugh, Bessie Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Banks and daughter, Betty Lou, and little Tommy Banks.

Leaving Hopland.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peck and family have moved to Cloverdale.

With Her Daughter.

Going to Burlingame, where she visited her daughter, Mrs. F. E. Gibson for one week was the happy vacation afforded Mrs. R. L. Buckman.

Went To Sonoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brennan and daughter, Joanne, were in Santa Rosa on a business trip.

Meet Today.

The Hopland Garden Club will hold its February meeting at the home of Mrs. James Crawford February 21. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Dorothy Aberts and Mrs. Mary Milone.

Walter Eames, former Western representative of the Artists and Painters Union, passed the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Taylor, owners of Hopland Auto Court. Mr. Eames is well known in the Bay area.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Tremayne visited Oak Knoll Hospital, where Mr. Tremayne's mother has been ill some time past.

P. T. A. Founders Day.

The P. T. A. Founders Day was a big event of Tuesday evening, in spite of cold and rain, and a capacity gathering turned out to be part of the celebration. It was held in the grammar school. An address was given by Mrs. Fay Lee Smith, Twenty-seventh District President of P.T.A. Girls in the class of Miss Lois Grey sang several selections and Past-President pins were presented Mrs. E. Travers, Mrs. Wm. Fields and Mrs. George Poor. Jonquils and acacia were used to form a beautiful decorative background while the main table, covered by a lace cloth, held huge bouquets of jonquils and a large birthday cake was in the center, surrounded by blue candles. Mrs. Emily Shimmin and Mrs. E. Travers poured coffee and passed dessert and the cakes. A happy social and informative evening was enjoyed.

Had Bad Luck.

Like the popular song hit, "Everything Happens To Me," so has another accident lately befallen "Billy" Stutsman, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stutsman, of East Sanel. "Billy" was playing football with several of his schoolmates, including Kenneth, his next older brother, on a lot close to home. The fun mounted to a high pitch when Kenneth, suddenly, attacked the younger lad "in the wrong place," as he so aptly expressed it, with the result Billy was thrown to the ground and his right arm broken between the wrist and elbow. He was hurried home. His mother lost no time getting her son into the family car and driving to Ukiah where the boy's injured arm was set and Billy is now carrying it in a sling. Mrs. Stutsman stated later it was not until she was safely home again the nervous reaction set in and tears came. It may be recalled that last August, "Billy" was saved from death by drowning at Scout Camp, Russian river, North Hopland. Miss Wilma McGrew, who was resting on the river bank close by, heard the lad's cries and those of his companions. Miss McGrew ran out on the log "Billy" had fallen off and, fully clothed, dived in and pulled him to safety as he was coming up in the deep step-off. The young lady, who has since gone east, was very modest about her brave act. Hopland's residents hope nothing more will happen to "Billy." There are five children in the Stutsman family.

A Legion Party.

Hopland Legion Post No. 529 gave the second of a series of three card parties Friday night at the High School Gymnasium. Proceeds will be used for rehabilitation of World War II veterans. Tom Williams was chairman in charge of the party. Henry Cox is Post Commander. Bridge, Pinochle and Pedro were played and prizes awarded winners. Refreshments were served. Adult admission was 50 cents, while children paid but 25 cents. Commander E. A. Eversole and Mrs. Eversole were here from Ukiah.

Passed Weekend Here.

Miss Donna Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cox, was here lately from San Jose, where she attends State College.

Conclude Their Visit.

Mrs. Edna Harpe left for the Bay area recently, accompanied by her son, Lieutenant Harpe and his bride, both of whom have been visiting the past week in East Sanel with friends and relatives. Enroute they stopped at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Williams, San Rafael. Other relations were also called on enroute to Richmond, where the bride's parents reside. Mrs. Lilburn Harpe was the former Miss Myrl Smith and is a very charming and lovely girl.

To Re-open Business.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonny Vernon and young son are soon expected to arrive at their ranch in East Sanel. They have been looking after property interests in Oklahoma, their native state and on returning will re-open their place of business, formerly known as Julia's Place.

Had Gift Shower.

A miscellaneous gift shower was one of the happy social events of this week when relatives and friends of Mrs. Ralph Osborne (Ada Dooley) gathered at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dooley, to present best wishes and gifts for the new home-to-be. The party was held Thursday afternoon.

The spacious rooms were beautifully decorated in a profusion of flowers and the table at which Mrs. Osborne unwrapped the many gifts was piled high with daintily enclosed packages of all sizes and shapes. Those assembled for the happy afternoon were Mesdames Mildred Longstaff, Georgina Williams, Jack Hughes, Charles Hetzel, Bess Zanoline, Edna Harpe, Ellen Dawe, Ernest LaMastus, Henry Longstaff, Ada Dooley, Nancy Coles, Harold Buckman, R. L. Buckman, Olive Harris, Thelma Stutsman, T. B. WSCS MEETING COLORFUL IN PATRIOTISM

Mrs. J. H. Hansen presided at the regular meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service which was held in the Ladies Parlor of the Methodist Church, Thursday afternoon, with a good attendance. The room was decorated with bouquets of pink flowering peach and tall white candles in colored glass holders. The officers reports were followed by the reports of the chairmen of the various circles. A note of thanks was extended Mrs. Wade Keckley for her work in making arrangements for the dinner and other features of the Donkey Basketball celebration held in the church recently.

Mrs. A. D. Cleland and her committee received a note of thanks for the successful work in planning and preparing a service flag for the church. The service standard has a red border with a white field and blue stars. There is one gold star for Henry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Van Dyke, who lost his life in the service of his country in Italy. The flag hangs in the sanctuary at the church where it was decorated with an impressive ceremony February 4. Mrs. J. H. Hansen, President of the W. S. C. S., presented the banner to Carl Minds, chairman of the governing body of the church. The names of the servicemen are inscribed on a scroll which duplicates the flag in size and shape so that each star may be identified. At the dedicatory ceremony, Rev. Herbert Brooke read the names of the servicemen, Philip Joseph sang a special arrangement of Kipling's "Recessional." The stars were sewed on the flag by Mrs. Herbert Brooke, who received much praise and a vote of thanks for a fine piece of work.

The devotions at Thursday's meeting, given by Mrs. Elise Bachman, of Iowa, who has been passing the winter with relatives in Ukiah, consisted of a poem, "Songs In The Night," sent to her from Africa by her daughter, and a companion poem written by a friend in Washington State.

Mrs. W. D. L. Held discussed the rehabilitation of Methodist Churches in war ravaged Europe for which a fund is being accumulated by a drive called "The Crusades." Mrs. Held deplored the physical, economical and spiritual losses the churches of devastated areas have sustained. She mentioned the many beautiful Catholic shrines in Italy, which have been damaged, and the fine Anglican churches of England that have been bombed, even including St. Paul's Cathedral, one of the most famous edifices in the world, which was completed in 1710. It is of classic design, domed, and resembles St. Peter's in Rome. Such damage is almost irreparable.

Mrs. Brooke spoke of the wonderful work in Round Valley that is being accomplished by Rev. and Mrs. Del'ord, who recently moved there from Galt. They are trying to repair the church property and hope, with the help of their Indian parishioners, to farm the five acres of land that is owned by the church and to make the mission at least partly self-supporting.

Mrs. Ina Branson, program chairman, introduced Olive E. Busch, who gave a talk on the subject of February Holidays. She traced the origin and development of the Valentine custom and gave a brief sketch of the lives of Washington and Lincoln, mentioning some of the patriotic shrines she had visited on recent trips east. Mrs. Branson sang, "When Honey Sings An Old-Time Song," to piano accompaniment played by Mrs. Clara V. Cook. Refreshments of cookies and tea were served by Mrs. T. M. Cleland and Mrs. Ethel Bonnifield.

Plans were made for an evening meeting to be held on March 15, to which the husbands and other guests will be invited. An interesting program will be presented by the members of the different circles.

BAPTIST LADIES IN CHARMING CHURCH MEET

The Christian Friendliness Tea given by the Baptist Ladies Aid at the Baptist Church Thursday afternoon proved a very interesting affair, with a deep educational undertone. The social hall was arranged and decorated to represent the deck of a ship on which the members in their imagination were transported to many far-away countries. Bowls of yellow jonquils graced the window ledges and the long rays of the afternoon sun, falling through the frosted glass on them left a golden radience in the auditorium. Large sprays of blooming daphne were appreciated for both their beauty and fragrance. Members of the hostess committee wore Martha Washington costumes that lent a note of color and emphasized the American atmosphere. Curios and souvenirs from many of the Allied countries were displayed on the tea tables and attracted much interest and attention. Mrs. J. B. Cook exhibited an 18-inch long model of a pony cart with its occupants, brought to her from Sicily by her son-in-law when he returned from that campaign. He also brought to Mrs. Cook, from Palermo, a heavy linen luncheon set with hand-embroidered scenes from the Trojan War, which was greatly admired. Mrs. W. H. Higgins' table was decorated with a heavy brass coffee urn, brought to her from Arabia by her brother-in-law who was employed in that country a year or more. The vessel would only hold a few ounces of the thick, syrupy coffee which the Arabians brew and drink. Mrs. Higgins also showed an Arabian scarf which was an illustration of the textiles woven in that desert land. Mrs. Grace Adams displayed large sections of white coral from the Hawaiian Islands. There were many other interesting exhibits from various countries of the world.

An entertaining and instructive program, including three main talks and a variety of vocal and instrumental musical numbers was presented. Mrs. Lena Whittaker, President of the Society, extended greetings to the company under the suggestive topic, "Ship Ahoy." Mrs. Whittaker has served as President of the Society the past 21 years, which is probably a record in church service in Ukiah. She has planned the work and executed much of it through the exercise of her individual efforts and energy and the force of her own personality. Mrs. Philip Lynch's subject "Barnacles," gave her the opportunity to warn her auditors against accumulating impediments to living a Christian life.

Mrs. W. H. Higgins, President of Associational Women's Work for this district, found the inspiration for her encouraging talk in Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's popular poem, "Sail On, O Ship Of State." The recitation of Henry Van Dyke's poem, "America For Me," expressed the worthy sentiment of patriotism and love of our own native land over all.

SAW HIS RELATIVES

Ernest Ball, elder son of Mrs. E. B. Ball and brother of Mrs. Harold Holliday and Mrs. Lilburn Gibson, of Ukiah, was here from his home in Albany, last week, to visit his mother and other relatives. He has been employed at the Naval Supply Dispensary in Oakland a year past. He applied for a discharge and received it early this month. Mr. Ball is a veteran of both the First and Second World Wars. He has served three years in this war. He will resume his work with an oil Company. Mrs. Ball's younger son, Irvin Ball, has been in the South Seas over two years. He wrote recently he hoped to get home in time for the hunting season this year.

VISITED SICK LADY

Mrs. Frank Brown, of Mendocino, was a Ukiah visitor Saturday, making the trip over and back with Rev. Floyd Feaver. COSTUME SHOWING A COLORFUL CLUB EVENT THURSDAY

The regular social meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club was held in the Canton room of The Palace Hotel, Thursday evening, with Mrs. Ella Butler presiding. Mrs. Drusia Harris, chairman of the hostess committee, was assisted by Kate Dietterle, Felice Dryfoos, Minnie Jamison, Dorothy Leonard, Helen Anderson and Frances Hill. The meeting opened with assembly singing of "America The Beautiful," and the authorized version of The Creed was read by Kate Dietterle. The first number on the program was a group of solos, Russian, Scotch and Irish, sung by Mrs. Charles Myszka to piano accompaniment by Dorothy Schilde.

The tables were set in the form of an open rectangle and the central space was occupied by a round table at which was seated 10 members who have been affiliated with the organization since the beginning of the Club year. The theme of the meeting was "International Relations." The table was decorated with a globe and the flags of the Allied Nations. On the wall behind the speaker's table was displayed a world map made by the art class at the high school. Flowering quince and other spring flowers were used in floral embellishments.

Theresa Ray, chairman of the membership committee, read the names of the initiates as they formed a circle around a table. Each one lighted a candle from a central candle, symbolizing the extending of club spirit and inspiration. The candidates wore these European costumes: Georgia Portlock, Hawaiian; Marie Sepp and Rena Webb, Czechoslovakian; Carol Clark, Dutch; Irene Mathews, Greek; Ethel Humphrey, Scotch; Gertrude Brunton, Spanish; Elaine Mathews, Chinese; Mildred Ross, Spanish; Annabel Crosby, India. The costume from India belonged to Mary Fullerton and the Czechoslovakian gowns to Mrs. Paul Sekora. Mrs. Sekora also exhibited her collection of European dolls and gave a very interesting talk on the dolls and fashions of foreign countries she had visited.

During the brief business session, Mrs. Mary Overton was accepted by transfer from a club in Illinois. Several applications for membership were read indicating the steady growth of the organization. Altogether this proved to be one of the most interesting and colorful meetings of the club year to date and a large number of members and guests were present to participate in and enjoy the festivities.

TELLS BEAUTY OF ISLAND NEAR BAHAMAS

This week Mrs. L. L. Clark, President of the Pomo Women's Club, received an interesting letter from Dr. J. H. Smyth, who was the resident physician in the Indian Service here seven years.

He has many friends in Ukiah and vicinity who will be glad to hear he is happy in his new work and situation. He says he traveled 4097 miles from Ukiah to Nassua, the capital of the Bahama Islands, and then 300 to reach Inagua Island, which is located just north of Cuba and Haiti. On his way to Inagua Island he visited Watling, or San Salvador Island, where Columbus landed October 12, 1492. He made a trip on horseback to the monument that marked the landing place. He sends a picture of the monument he took on that trip.

Dr. Smyth says the island is supported by the salt industry. The salt water is evaporated and the salt scooped up into piles and trucked to the seaport. A steamer had sailed that week with 4,000 tons of salt for Canada. Dr. Smyth says 10 miles from where he is located there is a factory that refines magnesium, which is used for making firebrick. He states the climate is delightful and the tropical scenery beautiful beyond description, so it is no wonder it is a favorite haunt of the tourist in normal times.

The business session was called to order at 9:00 a.m. Saturday. Florence Saunders was elected president of the district for the ensuing year. Quest groups were then formed for study of worthwhile subjects. Arthur Thurman, of San Francisco, director of the Methodist Youth Movement for California and five officers of the M. Y. F. were present and helped conduct the conference. Luncheon was served by local members, who were assisted in preparation of the food by their mothers. At 2:30 o'clock a ball game was played on the grammar school diamond and many took walks to nearby points of interest.

A banquet in the evening was served by the Adult Fellowship Group, which the mothers had prepared. Superior Judge Lilburn Gibson and wife were guests of honor at the meeting.

After the banquet the company adjourned to the sanctuary, where a very beautiful communion service was conducted by Rev. Orman Roberts, of Petaluma. The out-of-town members left for home at nine o'clock Saturday evening. The objectives of this work is to direct young people in desirable activities and prevent juvenile delinquency.

BRIDGE LEASE TO STATE HELD ILLEGAL IN OPINION TO BOARD OF SAN FRANCISCO SUPERVISORS

Attorney John L. McNab Points Out Legal Barriers To Transfer Of Authority By Directors To California

SALE TO STATE IS HELD BY LAW IMPOSSIBLE

mentary opinion in response to your courteous request and is not an expression of opinion by the Golden Gate Bridge Directors.

Respectfully submitted.
John L. McNab, Attorney,
Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

The Redwood Empire Association arranged for a meeting of representative citizens of the nine Redwood Empire Association counties with The State Highway Commission at Sacramento recently. At that time John L. McNab, Attorney for The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, and President A. R. O'Brien, of The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, made presentations of facts to the Highway Commission. There were several hundred prominent Northern Californians at the meeting and, afterwards, Governor Earl Warren received the Delegation in the Executive offices. There State Senator Jack Shelley, John L. McNab and A. R. O"Brien gave outlines of the facts to the Governor.

Took Down Talks.

The Redwood Empire Association had a shorthand reporter at the meeting and the Association has sent out for publication the addresses. The speech of John L. McNab follows:

Gentlemen of the Commission: I did not know until this morning I was expected to say anything on this subject, but I come to you in the capacity of the attorney for the Golden Gate Bridge. You are only interested in facts, so as to recall incidents that are connected with vital importance to these people who had to fight this battle in the years that have gone. You cannot blame the people who have gone through all these years of trial and opposition for feeling, to a certain degree they are excluded from one of their rights. It may as well be plainly stated at the outset this very useful Commission I now have the honor of addressing is the one commission and the one state body that is going to have the right to say whether this monstrosity shall be corrected or not. If this Commission in its wisdom decides it will not approve this, I have every reason to believe the legislature will not overrule it. If, on the other hand, this Commission feels this is a wrong which should be righted, the legislature will cheerfully and swiftly pass the necessary legislation to put this route in the State Highway system.

What The Bridge Is.

Now there has been a tendency, throughout the history of the Golden Gate Bridge, to treat it more or less as a local institution. It isn't. It is a part of the whole State of California. Over this particular highway must pass, through the years to come, a great portion of the heavy traffic of California. Leave all of the tourist traffic out of it, resolve it down to the plain, heavy tonnage, paying traffic — the greater portion of it has to cross this bridge. When this bridge was built, we had nothing but obstacles crossing the bay, in the form of ferries. We are entitled to support for a decent, broad, modern highway to get from the end of the bridge to the great counties to the north. It isn't only a question of serving Del Norte, Mendocino, Lake, Sonoma, Marin—it is a matter of serving the whole State of California. This road is going through the San Joaquin and beyond; and ultimately a man who starts from San Diego will be able to drive his car to the Arctic Circle; and he is entitled to do it at the present time, over a highway that does not endanger life and limb and wear out trucks. I presume the members of this Commission have often traveled over that highway, and have traveled it during heavy trucking hours, and have seen the trucks wearing out engines and using up gas and oil in an effort to get over this hill. This Commission knows that under the heavy travel that has developed the Golden Gate Bridge will soon be in active competition with Carquinez and other great structures. But that creates an additional disadvantage. Of course, without adverting to things I know as a matter of history, as to why this trail was cut over the top of the mountain instead of along the side, the fact remains we cannot afford to have a mistake like that stand in the middle of the great highway system in the State of California.

Strauss Was Right.

I have always believed Joseph B. Strauss had the right idea when he projected the tunnel through the mountain on a one percent, or not to exceed in any place a two percent grade, coming out at Waldo. That would have been a costly structure, and in view of the opposition driving against the Golden Gate Bridge promoters, it probably would have been impossible, but the fact that it could not be constructed at that time is no reason why we should now be denied a broad freeway approach to the bridge from the north. Now this present so-called Sausalito Lateral — improperly so called — is at not to exceed a three percent grade. We built it ourselves, out of our moneys, to the extent of about $900,000; and it is not a difficult engineering matter, I am sure, to build this on a grade that will not exceed two per cent coming down around the front of Sausalito. Someone has suggested we will be intruding into the municipality of Sausalito. We are intruding into it now. The tunnel and a large part of the present highway over that mountain is within the limits of the municipality. If we have violated it once, we can violate it again.

No Additional Freight Tax.

Now you of this Commission are familiar with the fact that trucks passing over this highway to the northern counties are allowed in the computation of their freight rates on the basis of travel, practically twice the distance that they actually do travel, because of the difficulties of going over the six percent grade. If that is the case, it is a matter that seriously affects the whole travel system in California. Now, gentlemen of the Commission, there is no use reiterating these things. We are face to face with a very simple question. This Commission is all-powerful with regard to the highway system, with regard to its recommendations to the legislature. If this Commission says "No," this is ended here. If this Commission says "Yes," the legislature will listen to what it has to say, and we are here very reasonably on behalf of this great territory to ask of you that justice be done in giving us a freeway that is capable of carrying the heaviest trucks in the State of California. If you don't, they will travel over other bridges, and this will be relegated to a second-class highway, instead of a first-class highway covering so much of the rich part of this territory.

Left With Them.

I thank you very much for listening to me. I would have prepared a more orderly address had I known I was to address you, but that is the simple question, gentlemen, and it is in your hands. If you say "No," out we go; if you say "Yes," what is now a monstrosity will be constructed into a highway.

Following conclusion of Mr. McNab's address, members of the Highway Commission asked Mr. McNab numerous questions as to matters of law to which Mr. McNab replied.

President O'Brien Speaks.

President Minahen, of the Nine Counties Supervisors' Unit, handling the presentation, next introduced A. R. O'Brien, President of The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District and, in his address, Mr. O'Brien said:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Commission and Gentlemen from the Redwood Empire District: I come from Mendocino County, and when I make that statement I put myself under a decided disadvantage, for it is from Mendocino County John L. McNab comes, and all over the country it is presumed John McNab is possessed of all the oratory in the world. Consequently, when one comes from Mendocino county, it is imagined there is a peculiar attribute of the water up there that makes everyone a spellbinder, and when he gets up to make a speech he will have the gift of gab. I was told so when John L. McNab left Mendocino county and came to San Francisco to practice law. He grabbed all the eloquence and brought it to San Francisco, to make money practicing his law business.

All Once So Type.

But, leaving Mr. McNab, I want to talk to you like one sinner on the bench to another. I have been on the Golden Gate Bridge 22 years. I know all the variations. When we came down to start the bridge, 22 years ago, we didn't catch our breath until the Southern Pacific opposed us. They were joined by the Golden Gate Ferry. Then the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce took part, because it was largely subsidized by the subsidiary companies of the Southern Pacific Railroad. Immediately after that came the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, and as soon as it began to be bruited about the Bay Bridge was to be built, and it was to be mothered by the Highway Commission, we found ourselves with another enemy added; and since that time we have never been able to obtain any consideration from the engineering department of the State Highway Commission.

Absolves Present Members.

Now, gentlemen, I want you to understand that when I speak of the Highway Commission, I intentionally sling all of the personnel of the present day, but I do refer to those who were on the Board in the late thirties.

Troubles Commenced.

We started out to build our bridge, and we got as far as the Fine Arts Building. There was a small piece of ground there we had to get for right-of-way. It was not, really, so large a grasshopper in the late fall could not jump across it, but just as quickly as we sought to get title to it, we encountered, through the influence of the Southern Pacific in the Park Commission Board, very violent opposition, and we were told we would have to pay $10,000. We went into court and condemned it, but they got judgment and we had to pay it.

Again Held Up.

Then we started along and we came upon a relic of battery. If you had thrown a firecracker down into it, the walls would have fallen in, but here we got no real resistance. We went before the Army, and we all learned to bow from the waist down. We finally arrived at the conclusion the Army was going to be generous with us and only take $167,000 away from us for that ancient battery!

That Sum We Paid.

Continuing our right-of-way toward the Gate, we came on some ancient white-washed buildings. Afterwards we knew they were white-washed because they were full of bedbugs, and if one of these bedbugs had sneezed, the chances are the whole shebang would have collapsed. We tried to dicker with the Army and were told we could have those wrecks, but for each one of them we had to erect for the Army a modern four-room bungalow, and we did that very thing.

Now I could go on relating those headaches until the crack of dawn. That is all we have had since the beginning of the bridge.

Note Taken of Gains.

Eventually we came to the point engineer Strauss said we were in a position to get ready to tie up with the State Highway Commission for the roads and the approaches. And then Earl Lee Stone did some 600,000-a-year crystal gazing. He said it would be ten years before we would be able to finish the bridge, that the southwester would fall down, and no one would patronize the bridge anyhow!

Plans Rushed Bridge.

Three weeks after that we began to hear rumors the plans were ready, and about six weeks from then we learned the plans had been turned over to the Army. It was given to us we were not interested in the plans; that the transaction of approving and accepting the road was between the Army and the State Highway Commission.

The Bridge Director as knew no more about that lateral or that tunnel than the Pope of Rome knows about the inner workings of the Ku Klux Klan.

That Waldo Approach is not our baby. It was a bucket left on our doorsteps by the Highway Commission.

It was a Charlie Chaplin track.

Got A Hearing.

Finally we looked out we were to get a three-lane tunnel and only a three-lane highway.

Then we all hit up the reservation and went on the warpath. We appealed to Governor Merriam, and Director Lewis pointed out the enemies we had to overcome. We had to go to Father Ryan to know the Catholic Church was not opposed to us. We had to go up to Sacramento. They were imbued with the idea the Golden Gate Bridge directors were coming to Sacramento to take all the money in the treasury and build a new bridge. The misinformed people fell on us and almost tore us apart. When I tried to make an address, they accused me of everything, except stealing the Lindbergh baby.

Mr. Kelly got up and said he had in his pocket a letter from the Board of Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge, and that I did not represent the sentiment that prevailed on that block.

Governor Saved Day.

I was on the Prison Board then, and I was whispered the information that, if I raised so much hell the Governor could ask me to get off the Prison Board. I did not know then how easy it was for the Governor to throw a member of the Prison Board off the job, especially a Democrat like Governor Olson—what he did to me two years later.

I went to see Governor Merriam, and asked him what we could expect. He told me he did not intend to permit the Highway Commission to force on us a three-lane tunnel.

The people of California are indebted to Governor Merriam for the fact we have a four-lane highway off the Golden Gate Bridge into Redwood Highway at Waldo, solely because Frank Merriam stood up. To Frank Merriam, alone, California should be grateful for preventing a greater abortion than what was forced upon us, a hole in the side of a mountain at the end of a mile-long pull through which would have run an eight-foot-having, three-lane highway. If Eustace Sore had had his way Californians would have had a much sorrier engineering job at the top of that long, expensive climb than it has by far.

The Free Pass Burden.

You know the rest of the story. The Army came in on us, the shipyards, the Navy and the New Dealers followed. All demanded free passes over the Bridge. We had to go to Congress to keep the Bridge from being bankrupt.

Bay Bridge Subsidized.

In 1933 a bill passed allowing the San Francisco Bay Bridge, out of State gasoline taxes, $600,000 annually, and in this biennium, because there comes a time when insurance has to be paid, the Bay Bridge will get $1,600,000. Now the Golden Gate Bridge never received a nickel's worth of hard from the Highway Commission. Give us $600,000 a year for five years, and we will build this freeway, without coming back for any funds.

Where He Stands.

I do not come here as a Mexican Limosnero, with my sombrero in my hand, asking to be given a permit to walk the trail.

I am here as an upstanding Californian, having a stewardship of $35,000,000 which has been entrusted to me, and I demand the right to protect the investment of my fellow Californians; and I contend no State officer should be too busy or too exhausted to listen to a plea to right a great injury done by one branch of the California State government to the people of nine counties.

Mine is a thankless job.

The officials I may antagonize will be embittered; the public at large will take it for granted I merely did what I should have done. Yet there is supreme satisfaction in what I am doing today.

I know I have taken an honest stand, and I can go home and look my dog in the eye.

Mrs. E. M. Rickaelson was an over the weekend visitor here from her Santa Rosa home.

Trophies of a Happy Marriage

The Cuppers are about the happiest married couple in our town. Comfortable off, too, after Dee's fifty years of honest work. But their two most prized possessions are an old beer mug and an 1890 Floradora hat.

When they were first married, Dee allows he couldn't stand the hat; while Jane turned her nose up (privately) at Dee's fondness for a friendly glass of beer from time to time. But each figured it was the other's right ... so they lived and let live.

And as time went by, they realized that the hat and mug had become important symbols in their marriage—symbols of respect for each other's rights and differences of opinion.

From where I sit, a lot of marriages would be happier if there were more funny-looking hats and old beer mugs in the background. Tolerance is a mighty good foundation for living happily together.

NEVADA CASE IS REVERSED IN A DIVORCE

Judge W. D. L. Held's Decision Set Aside Last Week

NEW TRIAL GRANTED

1943, and to continue each and every month thereafter during the life of said Rose Agnes Bello, unless she should remarry, in which event said monthly payment would cease and be terminated. This divorce has never been changed or modified and the defendant, Frank Joseph Bello, continued to make payments as long as he was able, but he became sick and unable to make one or two payments, whereupon Rose Agnes Bello filed the present action through her attorney, Henry C. Spurr, claiming the Nevada divorce decree was invalid. Whereupon Frank Joseph Bello, the defendant, employed Judge H. L. Preston to represent him, and a vigorous contest resulted.

Case Decided Here.

A trial was held in the Superior Court before Judge Held, and Judge Held decided in favor of Rose Agnes Bello and against Frank Joseph Bello, holding that the Nevada decree was void and of no effect, and ordered that Frank Joseph Bello pay to his wife $100 per month and costs and made other preliminary orders for support and maintenance.

New Trial Granted.

Being dissatisfied with Judge Held's opinion, Frank Joseph Bello made a motion for a new trial upon many grounds. This motion was heard by Judge Donald Geary of Santa Rosa and last week Judge Geary filed an elaborate opinion holding Judge Held's findings were erroneous, and granted a new trial deciding the Nevada decree was valid and Judge Held erred in holding the Nevada decree illegal, and also that the plaintiff, Rose Agnes Bello, was estopped in law from attacking the Nevada divorce for the reason she had accepted the fruits of said divorce by receiving the payments provided in the Nevada decree.

The Court's Reason.

In part Judge Geary said in his order: "The motion for a new trial should be, and the same is hereby granted, for the reason that, from the facts as stated, the legal exception hereinabove mentioned is clearly applicable, hence the decision and judgment ans against the law."

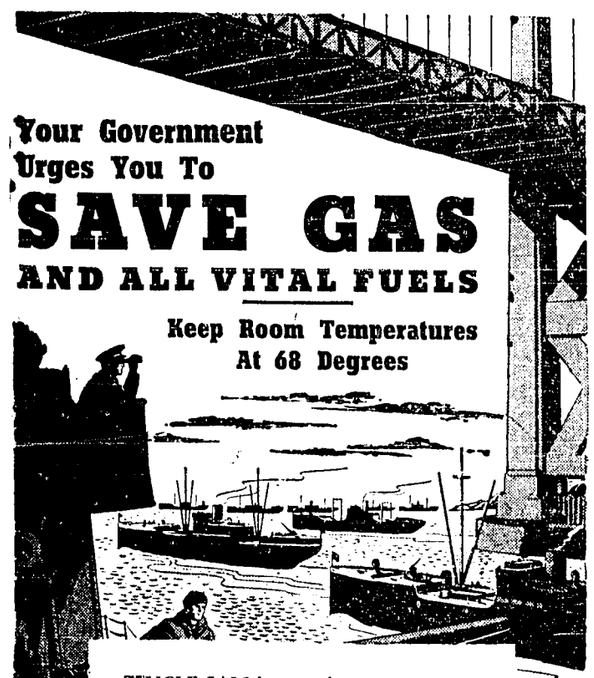
SAVE GAS
AND ALL VITAL FUELS
Keep Room Temperatures At 68 Degrees


UNCLE SAM has made an urgent appeal for fuel saving throughout the nation. Here in California, we should conserve our gas supply by being thrifty in our use of it in home and industry. Gas is a vital and essential fuel used in the production of war materials that fill the ships that sail out the Golden Gate to our fighting men across the Pacific.
You can contribute to the fuel saving effort by guarding against wasting heat in your home—by keeping room temperatures at no more than 68 degrees.
This company has pledged full support to a request of the Office of War Utilities, War Production Board in its national fuel saving program. We urge our customers to help through voluntary cooperation.

CREW RESCUED HORSE FROM A VALLEY WELL

ing found. The horse was owned by Valfred Sameda and was not thought to have been injured by the fall.

Had Close Shave.

Linda Tuttle, two-year-old daughter of the Walter Tuttles, had a narrow escape from serious injury Saturday when her right hand was caught in the wringer of an electric washing machine and drawn through to above her elbow. Mrs. Tuttle was preparing to wash and had connected the machine but did not start the wringer. Linda at the time was busy playing on the porch some distance from the machine. Her mother went into the bathroom to pick up some laundry and heard her scream. On reaching her she found the baby had in some way touched the release on the wringer and freed her arm, saving it from being severely damaged, but was badly bruised and it took several hours treatment to restore circulation, but no permanent injury was done.

A Lively Child.

Linda loves to climb and in the brief time her mother was gone she had climbed onto the laundry bench and started the wringer. It is not known whether she touched the release, which is a finger-tip one, with her hand or whether in being drawn towards it her face touched the release. She had a bruise across her nose which was either caused from the release striking her, as it went up, or by bumping into it. Many accidents are hard to understand, many children are allowed to run at will and nothing ever happens to them, while it would be hard to find a child that is more carefully watched over than Linda yet, in a flash, she came near being badly injured.

Married Monday.

Nanta M. Warren, of Joplin, Missouri, and Cecil M. Jackson, of San Francisco, were united in marriage, Monday morning, by Judge H. J. June, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tolman, where they have been house-guests the past week. Mr. Jackson is a former resident of this valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Farrer and two small sons, of Fort Bragg, were Sunday guests of the former's parents, the J. T. Farrers.

Mrs. Wm. Mellor, of San Francisco, passed last week with her stepfather, J. L. Rector, on his ranch on the Cloverdale road.

One hundred head of heifers sold February 6, and on February 7, 271 bulls were sold through the ring. The reserved champion Hereford bull belonged to the Curtis Hereford herd, which sprang from the oldest herd of that type in the United States, orginally in Kentucky but now of Montana. Oregon, Utah, Wyoming were among outside herds represented. Fred Sager, of Montana, was auctioneer. The Winterton Brothers of Utah, were awarded first prize for judging individuals and pen grouping all through.

A Delightful Evening..

Friday evening a banquet was given at the Chamber of Commerce building at which the Women's Improvement Club did the serving. There were over 300 served after which a show from Hollywood provided entertainment. A ventriloquist and a magician each performed very cleverly. There was singing by a comedian, then the local choruses a double quartet and women's trio, each gave two numbers. Music, feature dancing and acrobatics were not a small part of the very enjoyable program which was concluded with general dancing. Outsiders attending were Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Whittaker, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. R. Williams, of the Eden Valley ranch, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McDuffie, Glenn Barrass, Elmer Bauer and son, Jimmie Begley and John Ballentine.

Raymond Hill Dead.

Raymond Hill, well known in Covelo, died at Howard Memorial Hospital, Willits, February 15. Mr. Hill had been in very poor health some time and not long ago grew so much worse it became necessary to take him away for medical aid, but his trouble had gotten too great a hold on him and he passed away. A native of West Virginia, John Raymond Hill was 74 years of age. He came to Mendocino at the age of 12 and had engaged in the stage business and cattle raising all his life. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hill and leaves three sisters and two brothers Mrs. Clara Doty, of Santa Barbara, Mrs. Sedella Ray, of Alameda, and Mrs. Frank Bechtol, of Ukiah, Tom Hill, of Covelo, and Clark Hill, of Elk Creek. Services were held from Eversole Mortuary Sunday with Rev. Herbert Brooke officiating. Mrs. Ina Branson sang "Home Of The Soul" and "Sometime We'll Understand," accompanied by Mrs. Bertha Houdeshel. Pallbearers were F. M. Wilson, C. C. Brewer, Guy Redwine, R. R. Byrnes, Joe Weselsky and D. C. Smith.

A War Casualty.

Word has been received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Den Brush of Covelo, Arnet Brush, who is in the Army, had been wounded in action in the Philippines. Just a short time ago he had written of being transferred to the Philippines from Bougainville. He said he liked the Philippines much better than the jungles of Bougainville and told of the kind and hospitable people he had met in the former place. We hope his injury is not serious.

Came For Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Johnston came to Covelo from their home in Napa to attend the regular meeting of Augusta Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, which took place Thursday evening.

Observed Day.

The World Day of Prayer was observed in Covelo by a union meeting of Covelo Federated, Assembly of God, Methodist and Indian Mission Churches. The service was very beautiful and impressive and each church was nicely represented. Mrs. Robert Sharp was pianist, Marylou Hurt was soloist and performed her part wonderfully well.

Rev. Hodge, of the Federated Church, was reader and offering leader; Mrs. Frank Johnson, also of Federated Church, Mrs. De Ford, of the Methodist Church, Mrs. Mary Brown, of the Assembly of God, and Mrs. Charles, of the Indian Mission ,were leaders, while Rev. Verne Graham, of the Assembly of God, Mrs. Ed Long, of the Federated Church, and Mrs. Mildred Charles, of the Indian Mission, were extemporaneous prayer leaders.

Mrs. George A. Short, of Bald Mountain, came to Covelo to enjoy a week's visit with her mother, Mrs. May Perry, and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo O'Ferrall and children, of Williams Valley, passed Tuesday, Wednesday and a part of Thursday with Mrs. O'Ferrall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Haydon, in Covelo.

Is Meeting Day.

Thursday is the date for the regular missionary meeting of the Covelo Federated Church.

Has Come Home.

Mrs. Issolena English, who passed the late fall and winter with her children in Los Gatos and San Francisco, returned to her home in Covelo last week. Her son, Eldon, drove her up from the Bay area. Mrs. Sam Gray, of Covelo, accompanied Mr. English on his return trip to the city.

Lad Is Improved.

Mr. and Mrs. By Hurt returned from San Francisco last week, where they went to be at the bedside of their little grandson, Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Hurt, who has been seriously ill with meningitis. The little lad is well out of danger now and will recover without ill effects.

Aid Entertained.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Harold C. Tuttle was host to The Mutual Aid Society with a delightful Valentine party. There were some 35 members and a few friends present to enjoy the evening.

The home was prettily decorated with Chinese lilies and winter iris ,as well as valentine decorations. A lovely red, white and blue valentine box contained presents, as each guest brought a gift which was numbered and drawn for later. Several beautiful valentine and heart-shaped aprons, cookies, pin cushions, pot holders, etc., in Valentine shapes were taken home by the guests which afforded much happiness.

The program included a reading on St. Valentine Day and a poem by Mrs. Geneive Vehrs, High School teacher; a pretty and well rendered solo by Mrs. Eunice Jamison, "Sweet Dreams, Sweetheart," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Vera Hurt; a charming piano selection by Mrs. Virginia Sharp, who was also accompanied by the guests singing love songs suitable to the occasion. Two piano solos were given by Alice Gray, and two poems were read by Mrs. Audrey Tuttle, entitled "Wartime Prayer" and "Our Friends."

At a late hour the guests went to the dining room where refreshments were served. The table was most attractive, draped with a hand-embroidered Chinese table cloth in pastel shades centered with a dainty early spring bouquet of purple winter iris and Chinese lilies, with tall green tapers on either side and the vase was surrounded by many red hearts. From the chandelier above the table hung numerous red hearts of many lengths which added to the pretty setting. Mrs. Tuttle and her co-hostess, Mrs. Beulah Gray, were assisted in serving by Mesdames Doris Schultz and Margaret McReynolds.

Collector Warns On Return Making

Collector of Internal Revenue Harold A. Berliner today pointed out that payments on 1942 tax bills, recently mailed to 165,000 taxpayers in Northern California, must be made separate and distinct from all other tax liability. Many persons the Collector said, who have refunds on 1944 returns have sent in their statements, asking that the 1942 payment they are required to make, be applied against the refund on 1944 tax. This is in error. No unpaid tax on 1942 returns may be applied against a credit on 1944 overpayments. Both must be handled separately. The Collector advised persons owing on 1942 tax, to securely attach and return both statement and check together.

A RED CROSS DRIVE START SET FOR MCH. 1

Necessity For Funds Will Be Greater As Fighting Grows

TODAY'S CALL HEAVY

Mendocino County's Quota Set At Sum Of $15,300

The Red Cross is fighting a battle against suffering wherever it may be. In fire and famine, in tornado or flood, the Red Cross is ready with emergency relief, with shelter and food and clothing.

What Duties Are.

In time of war the program of the Red Cross must be expanded so that every service man and woman, together with their families, can be assured of help. This means there is a Red Cross army —you are the soldiers in its ranks. Food packages to our prisoners of war and civilian internees, medical supplies, comfort articles and clothing are carried in the Red Cross fleet. To help save the lives of wounded, the Red Cross developed its Blood Donor Service into one of the largest medical undertakings in history. To fight the battles of anxiety and loneliness the Red Cross has stationed thousands of men and women with our fighting forces wherever they may be.

What Finances Activities.

To keep this great army functioning the dollars of the American people are needed. Mendocino County Chapter is asked to raise $15,300 during the War Fund Drive in March. You will be given an opportunity to make your contribution. Give all you can.

MRS. SMITH ILL

Mrs. Ethel Smith, who has been quite ill with a severe attack of influenza, is still unable to resume her duties at the State Hospital. Her daughter, Helen Smith, is now also a victim of the prevailing malady.

W. H. Tuttle is back from a visit with relatives in Wyoming.
